Dear Mr. Paladini

I have the knowledge of your thoughts and intentions but I beg you kindly but seriously to leave my daughter alone as she is far too unripe to think of binding her future and life to a young man, who with all his charm and intelligence cannot at least at present offer her that social position which she from birth and education can claim and expect.

Personally I know you but slightly but have got a good impression of you and your serious intentions and mind - I cannot however tolerate to see her reputation deteriorated. If you have anything in the matter to say you are welcome to talk the question over with me any forenoon between 11.30 to 1.00 at my office in the Glyp. (entrance Tietgensgade)

I remain dear Sir, yours sincerely
